THE Milwaukee Journal in a review of the business situation says the acreage of winter wheat for the crop of 1885 is reported to be much less than for the crop of 1884. A severe drouth in Australia and the large slaughter of sheep in this country, may have the effect to reduce the supply of wool in the world for the year 1885. But for the coal and iron trade there is no bright outlook. The woolen and cotton factories, depressed during the far proved a delusion, and the speedy fallpast two years to a degree without precedent, can in the immediate future have no darker outlook, and manufacturers of some branches of such goods have a reasonable hope of an improvement in 'ne demand for their products.
